

Websites to reference: <https://www.jackdaye.com/> <https://www.markwatter.com/>

bauhaus 93 font bold "Robert Ross Recording"

The colors I have are nice but you dont have to keep the formatting given that this is like a keynote type shit. I don't know how much extra this is but if you could have it like where if your cursor is above the color squared the opacity fades into a picture from like a gig or recording session I did that would be awesome.

Like in mark watters website his home page has like "engineer producer" Id like it to be mine to be "artist engineer & producer" I

If you scroll down youll get an about me which I can send in a day or 2

Then like in the top left corner have the about me hyperlinked, then I want a separate artist page featuring some of my work and gigs (music & pictures), a page displaying my resume, and then a drop down titled Credits/selected recordings. One being called credits/studio work and the other being selected live recordings.

My artist page will just have my album cover taking the center of attention with links to all platforms, if possible if you scroll down a smidge you can see the track list and if you click it a drop down forms showing credits for each song

Resume just shows my resume

Credits will have an assortment of hyperlinked songs that are released or school projects I did (do not mention that they are school projects)

Selected live recordings are MP3s and pictures with the associated event date-time:location/venue

Robert Ross Recording is a one man army run by me(!) Robert Ross Harburda, but I prefer to be called by my middle name Ross. Currently, I am stationed in the PA/NJ area where I grew up. Recently, I graduated from Indiana University's Jacobs School of Music with a degree in Audio Engineering.

I have over 400 hours of experience supporting live productions from classical orchestras, big band jazz, all the way to your local DIY venue house shows. With studio recording and production, I specialize with jazz, indie, & pop music. As an artist, you can hear me play guitar, piano, bass, and trumpet over a variety of genres :)

I can operate in any setting, from expensive studios to a tiny garage, hardcore rock trio to brass band, I've done it all and would love to support your artistic projects. If you would like to enlist my services please contact me using the information below and I look forward to discussing your ambitions!